European not guilty of careless driving

Edward John Brown, aged 25, engineer, of 14 Dorset Crescent, Kowloon T'ong, charged on two counts of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and careless driving, was discharged by Mr. F. X. d'Almada at Kowloon yesterday when the Magistrate found insufficient evidence to substantiate the charges.

The charges were a sequel to a traffic accident in which defendant on the night of July 2 was alleged to have driven carelessly while under the influence of drink and as a result smashed into a nullah wall in Waterloo Road.

Personalia

Messrs. J. A. Duff, J. Linstead, S. K. Lai and Miss Conybeare left by BOAC yesterday for Japan.

The appointment of Mr. A. E. Bodley, Resident Magistrate, Tanganyika, as a Circuit Judge in North Borneo, has been approved by the King.

Mr. Albert Selwyn Bodley was born in Kimberley, South Africa, in May, 1907, and was educated at the Kimberley Boys' High School and the University of Cape Town. He was called to the Bar at Cape Town and Kimberley in 1930 but, after practising for a short time as an advocate, became articled to an attorney and notary-public and qualified in March, 1934. He was in private practice in Kampala, Uganda, from 1933 to 1937, and in 1938 was appointed to the Colonial Legal Service as a Crown Counsel in Sierra Leone. He was transferred to his present post in 1939.

Among the passengers who left yesterday by the ss. Wingsong for Keelung were Hung Che-kuo, Chan Koon-chang, Liu Yung-kwei, Kwok Wen-chee, Chow Kin-woo and Miss Wu Chu-mau.

Messrs. R. Moor, Jeng Chih-hao, Liu Liang-tsai, Chu Wen-hsiung and Miss L. de Hart left Hong Kong for Bangkok by CPA yesterday.

Messrs. Shuan Kee-leung, Kay Teong-sin, Saw Yin-sin and Tan Soon-han left for Rangoon by CPA.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Geth, Messrs. H. S. Morris, J. H. Ogilvie and C. E. Knott left for Singapore by CPA yesterday.

Among those who left for Singapore yesterday by BOAC were L. O. Davis, Mrs. Nelson, P. Norman, H. G. Mower, P. Rose, Mrs. Woo Tak-hing, Mrs. Curver, Col. R. H. Innes-Hopkins and Mr. A. B. Pennell.

Departures by BOAC yesterday for London included R. J. Boyter, Lee Pui-kau, Cpl. Cowie, Pte. Cox, C. W. Hodson and Mrs. Hodson.

S'HAU PORTUGUESE DUE TODAY

The Heinrich Jensen is due to arrive here today from North China ports with a large number of Portuguese nationals. Former residents of Shanghai, the Portuguese passengers have pulled out from the city by rail during recent weeks for Tientsin to embark in the Danish steamer. It is believed they total more than 100.

Defendant was represented by Mr. F. G. Nigel, while Sub-Inspector G. F. Watt, of the Traffic Department, prosecuted.

Brown in evidence said that on the day in question, which was a Sunday, he and a party of 10 went on a launch picnic to North Point, Chalkling, Junk Bay and Big Wave Bay.

They took on board three dozen bottles of beer and a bottle of gin, which were shared by all. Most of the time was spent in swimming. Returning to Queen's Pier at 9 p.m. he crossed the harbour and got into his car.

Defendant said that after starting his car everything became a blank to him. "All I remember was that I got into the car and started driving," said Brown.

Dr. D. W. C. Gawnie in evidence said that he examined defendant the next day. Besides the various injuries to Brown's body, he found a bruise, three inches in diameter, on defendant's left temple and his right wrist obviously broken.

Witness went on to say that defendant's unavailability to questions put to him struck him as peculiar as he had known defendant for some time. Witness said that he came to the conclusion that Brown had suffered a concussion.

Concussion is extremely difficult to diagnose, witness said, in some cases lucidity returns, and then after 24 hours unconsciousness may return. It is possible that a person suffering from concussion will talk and so on with ordinary action without the casual observer noticing anything wrong.

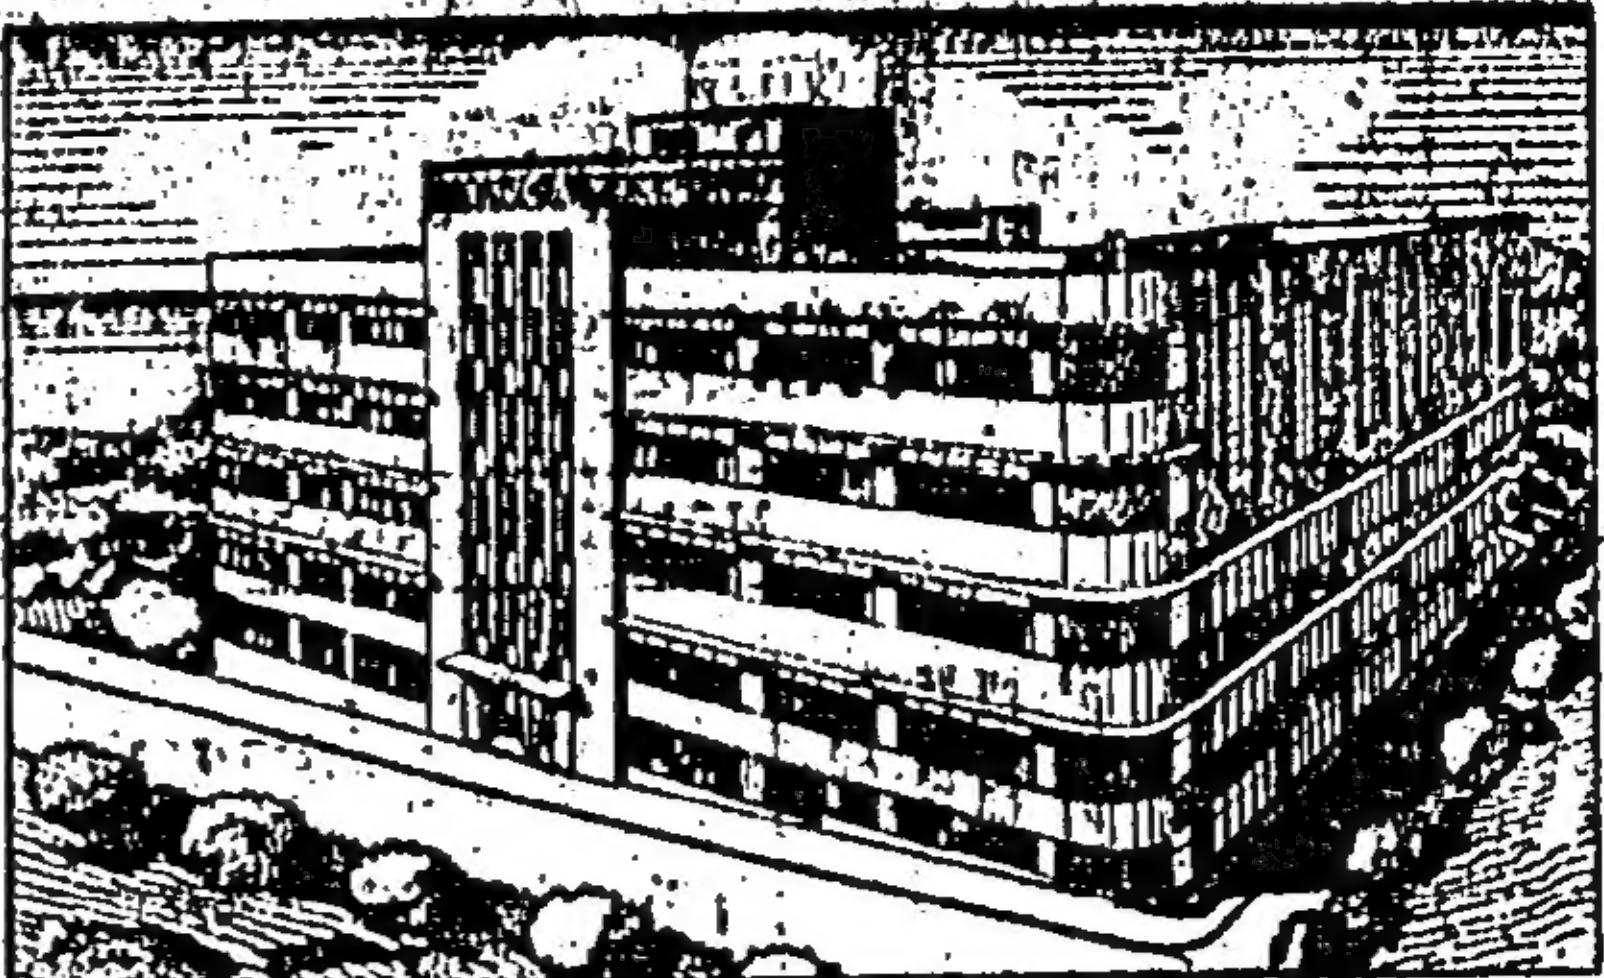

In answer to a question, Dr. Gawnie said that Brown, whom he had known for three years, and whom he had seen drinking at parties, had a high tolerance of liquor.

Two other defence witnesses gave evidence, Henri Ballerand, who is an acquaintance of defendant and who happened to pass by the accident, and A.B. Stewart, who was in the picnic party.

In discharging defendant Mr. d'Almada remarked that there was no evidence to show that defendant was incapable of driving and that medical examination of the Kowloon Hospital, where he was first taken, was insufficient.

Court Brevities

On a charge of obstructing the police in the execution of their duty, three hawkers, Chan Kwong, aged 17, Kwong Shek-yu, aged 21, and Li Chi, aged 19, were fined $200 each by Mr. R. W. S. Winter at Kowloon yesterday.

On September 30 police raided an opium den on the first floor of 385 Richmond Street where occupants locked the door to the premises when it was made known to them that the police were coming.

Upon breaking the door open, the police found the smokers and the keeper gone. On the verandah defendants were found to be enjoying a meal and joking among themselves.

On a charge of possession of arms and ammunition, Tsang Yau, aged 18, unemployed, was committed to stand trial by Mr. James Wickes at Kowloon yesterday.

Defendant was alleged to have had in his possession a revolver and several rounds of ammunition in Carpenter Street, Kowloon, City, on August 30. Sub-Inspector E. K. I. O'Reilly conducted the prosecution's case.

A 16-year-old student on a count of possession of arms was remanded 24 hours by Mr. d'Almada at Kowloon Juvenile Court yesterday.

Defendant was alleged to have had in his possession on board a bus in Nathan Road on Monday a pair of three-inch interlocking horn sheathed knives.

ATTEMPTED MURDER

Ng Hang-po, aged 28, was remanded for three days by Mr. Hin-shing Lo at Central yesterday on a charge of attempted murder.

Defendant was charged with causing grievous bodily harm, with intent to murder, Wong Sun-hang at Bay View.

Big seizure of gold at Kai Tak

Some 17,000 taels of gold were seized by Revenue inspectors at Kai Tak yesterday morning.

The gold was found concealed in baskets of vegetables and fruit consigned by air to Bangkok in a CPA plane.

Yesterday's seizure was one of the biggest made by Hong Kong's Revenue Department this year.

Court rules in Japan relaxed

Washington, October 3. The 15-nation Far Eastern Commission announced today that it has authorised the Japanese courts to extend their jurisdiction in criminal cases to nationals of United Nations member nations.

This new relaxation of occupation controls was voted on September 21. General Douglas MacArthur has been notified of this decision and authorised to put the new policy into effect at his discretion.

The announcement said the policy decision relieves MacArthur's Headquarters of the burden of maintaining judicial and penal facilities for criminal cases involving U.N. nationals and restores responsibility to Japan's internal administration. — Associated Press.

Sentence of three months' hard labour was given Chung Sun, unemployed, by Mr. R. W. S. Winter at Kowloon yesterday on two counts of obtaining money by false pretences.

Defendant on July 13 obtained $140 from a woman, Szeto Yuk-ling, by saying that he could secure the renewal of two learner's licences for her.

On July 19, he obtained $80 from complainant's daughter-in-law for this purpose.

Mass assault on boatmen

About 40 Chinese assaulted two boatmen of the small lighter Shi Shun at West Point yesterday—severely injuring them.

Late yesterday the two boatmen, Chow Cheung, aged 28, and Wong Man, aged 29, were unloading cargo at the Chung Ying Shed.

They were reported to have warned a Chinese boy swimming near their boat to keep clear.

Shortly after this incident, about 40 Chinese boarded the Shi Shun and assaulted the two boatmen.

Before police arrived at the scene, the assailants had fled. An ambulance took the injured boatmen to the Queen Mary Hospital where they are being treated. Their condition is fair.

Police later arrested for questioning the 15-year-old Chinese boy to try and determine the cause of the incident.

ONLY FIVE KILLED IN MISTAKE BOMBING

Tokyo, October 3. The British casualties in the mistake bombing of Sengoku on September 28 were much lighter than initially feared. Air Vice Marshal C. A. Bunting, of the United Kingdom Liaison Office at General MacArthur's Headquarters told AAP-Reuters yesterday.

Official returns indicated that about 400 Japanese were killed and 200 wounded in the mistake attack—Reuters.

YWCA building fund campaign

The Hong Kong Young Women's Christian Association will formally inaugurate its Building Fund Campaign at 3.30 p.m. today in its Downtown Centre, Duddell Street.

The aim is to raise $700,000 to erect a YWCA Building at the corner of Garden Road and Macdonnell Road. The Government has donated the site.

The proposed building will be a modern five-story edifice with offices, dining rooms, a library and chapel on the ground floor. The first and second floors will hold an auditorium seating about 500, and a gymnasium. There will also be a roof garden, and behind the building a small outdoor swimming pool and garden.

The new building will be an important addition to the recreational and educational facilities in Hong Kong, and it is hoped that a wide measure of public support will be forthcoming. The campaign committee has already obtained $233,700 in cash and pledges.

Dr. C. T. Wang will address the campaign workers this afternoon. He was formerly Minister of Foreign Affairs of China and Ambassador to the United States. He was also General Secretary of the Chinese National YWCA for a number of years, and has a keen interest in Y affairs.

Lady Man-kam Lo will also attend the opening of the campaign and will present badges to the five divisional leaders and the 35 captains of the various teams. About 500 workers are participating in the drive.

Mrs. Wong Tse-chen is chairman of the campaign, and first division leader, assisted by Mrs. Shung Shing-kuo, Mrs. Li Shu-pui, Mrs. W. B. Anderson, and Mrs. Tan Kung-hoon, leaders of the other four divisions.

Rooms named after donors

Contributions should be made out to the Hong Kong YWCA and mailed to the Rutton Building, Duddell Street.

Rooms in the new building will be named as designated by large donors, according to the following schedule: Assembly Hall will be named by person or firm contributing $100,000 or more; Gymnasium: $100,000 or more; Reception Hall: $50,000 or more; Swimming Pool: $20,000 or more; Chapel, Library, Domestic Science Room, Private Dining Room: $15,000 or more; Club Rooms, Board Room, Offices: $10,000 or more; Large Bedrooms: $10,000 or more; Small Bedrooms: $5,000 or more; and Roof Garden: $5,000 or more.

In addition, porcelain photographs of persons contributing between $1,000 and $5,000 will be displayed; and engraved names of persons contributing between $500 and $1,000 will be displayed.

YMCA Debating Society

The Debating Society of the European YMCA will open its 1950-51 season on Thursday at 8.45 p.m. The Chairman of the Society, Mr. P. Du Toit, will officiate and give a short address on "The utility of organising cultural groups in Hong Kong."

During the debate, stalwart supporters and opponents will engage in a battle of words and the audience will join in deciding the final issues.

There are a number of debatable subjects—Would Hong Kong be better with a Chinese Government? Do Dictators provide the only satisfactory form of government? Childless couples should be taxed—and the Committee aims to debate the most provocative of them.

In addition, there will be as usual a number of addresses on various topics followed by open discussion; that tried and valued diversion—the Brains Trust—will be included.

The Society hopes to enlist the co-operation of Rediffusion and Radio Hong Kong so as to broadcast some of the meetings.

Members of the public are urged to attend these meetings. In a statement yesterday, Mr. Du Toit said: "A successful democracy cannot be built except by a body of enlightened citizens. It is in the free interchange of ideas that we become educated in the fullest sense of the word, and in a community such as ours where necessarily the accent is on the materialistic side of life, it is refreshing and valuable to meet together and discuss the issues of life."

Even if conclusions are sometimes vague, even if apparently our ideas remain unshaken, yet just by hearing the other side we gain, we learn tolerance, we might give something to others, and that is the essence of democracy."

TWO WARSHIPS ARRIVE

Two naval warships, the USS Zumwalt, a Navy transport, and the USS Laffey, a Navy gunboat, arrived here yesterday.

The American warships were believed to have been sent to the Seventh Fleet patrolling for the Korean waters.

Seized coins returned

The HK$1,000 worth of five and 10 cent coins taken by the police from the Wing Hing Bank of 3 Bonham Street last Saturday in a raid under the new regulations governing the hoarding of coins, were returned to the bank yesterday morning.

This was the result of a statement at the police station made the day before yesterday by the bank's manager, Mr. Y. K. Fung.

The explanation given by the police, and Mr. Fung, was that the bank had been solicited also to hand over HK$1,000, refunded yesterday morning.

ROXY THEATRE GALA NIGHT ARRANGEMENTS

The following traffic arrangements have been made on the occasion of the gala premiere of the film "The Women of the Year" at the Roxy Theatre today.

Privileged Flag Cars: Privileged Flag Cars will be permitted to draw up at the main entrance in Yee Wo Street. Drivers will then proceed Eastwards and return to the theatre via Causeway Bay, Caroline Road and Percival Street. During the performance traffic police will marshal these cars into parking positions along the North side of Yee Wo Street. The cars should be lined up, nose to tail, facing Eastwards, and in order of precedence, the leading car being at a point in line with the North West end of the main entrance.

Privileged Park— chauffeur Driven Cars (Blue Labels): Will be permitted to draw up at the main entrance in Yee Wo Street. Drivers will then proceed Eastwards and return to the theatre via Causeway Bay, Caroline Road and Percival Street. During the cinema performance these cars may be parked, nose to tail, in the rear of the above-mentioned privileged flag cars. The overtop will extend along the West side of Pennington Street (Dairy Farm Building).

Privileged Park—Owner Driven Cars (Yellow Labels): A limited space, in the immediate proximity of the theatre has been reserved, as a privileged park for owner driven cars. Drivers of these cars are requested to approach the main entrance from Western direction to facilitate oblique parking without the necessity of reversing manoeuvre. These cars should be parked obliquely, with the bonnet towards the curb, along the North side of Yee Wo Street, Eastward from the Eastern end of the main entrance. At the end of the performance drivers may leave the area via Causeway Bay, Caroline Road, or by U.T. turn onto police control, in Yee Wo Street.

Red Label Car Park: It is not possible to permit drivers of these cars to draw up at the main entrance in Yee Wo Street. These cars may be parked, obliquely, with bonnets towards the curb, along the South side of Yee Wo Street, (directly opposite the cinema) between Caroline Road and Pennington Street. Drivers are requested to approach Yee Wo Street from the direction of Causeway Bay Road or Caroline Road, to facilitate the proper directional parking, without the necessity of reversing manoeuvre. At the end of performance, these drivers will proceed Eastwards and be requested not to make U-turn in Yee Wo Street, but to go Westward and thence return to Percival Street and Morrison Road.

White Label Car Park: Obliquely, with bonnets towards the curb, along the North side of Yee Wo Street, between Pennington Street and Great George Street, obliquely, with bonnets towards the curb, along the South side of Yee Wo Street, between Pennington Street and a point opposite Great George Street. The North side of Causeway Bay Road from junction of Yee Wo Street.

General Car Park: North side of Causeway Bay Road (beyond boundary of white label park) East side of Caroline Road, between George Street and Great George Street, between Great George Street and Percival Street.

TO BE WED

Franklin: Auguste: Josephine, Dairy Farm Inspector, of 114 Des Voeux Road, Central, top floor, and Miss Ruby Sum, 114 Des Voeux Road, Central, top floor, have announced their forthcoming wedding.

Annual Harbour Race on Oct. 15

The Annual Harbour Classic sponsored by the Victoria Recreation Club will take place on Sunday, October 15, at 11.30 a.m. starting from Kowloon.

This traditional event has always been one of the most important functions in local swimming circles and last year attracted the staggering figure of 1,500 competitors.

Anticipation that competitors this year's title will reach an all-time record number.

In view of the proposed reclamation project along the waterfront which is at present the "fish" of the race, many swimmers are keen on taking part this year, before the race course is altered.

Conditions of entry

The following are conditions of entry, and forms may be obtained from the VRC Steward, who will also receive entries.

It is open to competitors of both sexes. However, placing and prizes will be awarded separately. A certificate will be awarded to all competitors who complete the course.

The course is from the Railway Pier, Kowloon, to the praya-wall between Murray Road and Murray Pier, Hong Kong. The actual distance between the two points is 1,743 yards.

Competitors are required to assemble at the Railway Station not later than 10.30 a.m.

Arrangements are made for competitors to change in the dressing-rooms specially provided for the purpose at the Railway Station. Clothing must not be left in these dressing-rooms, but should be handed over to their own club officials.

(b) when the race is over, swimmers will change at the VRC.

Entries will close on Tuesday, October 10, at 5.30 p.m. and fees (HK$2—each) must accompany entries.

Talk on air conditioning

A talk on air conditioning was given at the Hong Kong Rotary Club weekly luncheon yesterday by Mr. Wilfred S. Wong, managing-director and vice-president of the American Engineering Corporation, U.S.A.

Shorn of technicalities, air conditioning, as defined by Mr. Wong, is the simultaneous control of temperature, humidity, air quality and air motion within an enclosure.

In practice it is science's greatest contribution to human comfort in the 20th century, not only in office premises, hotels and the home, but also in the factories.

Mr. A. J. Arculli, President of the Club, told members that the Kowloon Rotary Club would be holding their annual ball on October 27, and asked them to give the sister Club their support.

Among members welcomed back from leave yesterday was Mr. R. M. Gordon, China Manager of Eastman Kodak Company.

PARIMUTUAL

The victory forecast of our weather men, the accuracy of their predictions, the fact that they take with their predictions, are recorded only at the Jockey Club.

WETMET

The rehabilitation and development of transport is vitally necessary to the general economic progress of Asia and the Far East. ECAFE recognised this, early in its existence, and last year the first conference of the Ad Hoc Committee of Experts on Inland Transport was held in Singapore.

A number of resolutions were adopted which were later approved by the Commission, and the Transport Division of the ECAFE Secretariat was suitably strengthened to undertake the tasks allotted to it.

The next meeting of the Inland Transport Experts has been arranged for October 24 in Bangkok. A provisional agenda, based on the resolutions adopted at Singapore, has been drawn up.

Regarding railways discussion will centre around the best methods of using available types of fuel, and of improving the turn round of rolling stock, as well as improved methods of repair and maintenance of rolling stock and the possibility of some measure of standardisation of railway equipment in the ECAFE region. Also on the agenda is discussion of the possibility of establishing an International Railway Organisation for Asia and the Far East. Studies on all these subjects have been prepared and circulated by the Secretariat and will form basis material for discussion at the conference.

The Inland Transport Experts will also discuss Secretariat studies on roads and road transport. These include the most economic methods for constructing, repairing and maintaining roads, including standardisation and other characteristics, and comparative methods of national financing. Improved utilisation of existing road transport equipment will also be discussed, and a suggested new design for wheels and axles for animal-drawn country carts will be considered by the conference.

Inland waterways

As far as inland waterways are concerned, the experts will discuss studies on developing the traffic capacity of specific inland waterways and ports, and will consider suggested arrangements for the collection and analysis of existing transport statistics.

The meeting will also have before it a progress report on the establishment of a regional library service in the field of inland transport.

The above are the short-term problems which were allotted high priority by the Commission. Inland Transport experts, however, will also consider a Secretariat report on long-term problems having a bearing on the present programme of work.

On the question of intra-regional co-operation, the meeting will discuss a Secretariat report on further measures of intra-regional co-operation, such as the establishment of a Standing Committee of ECAFE on Inland Transport or other measures. It will also have before it information supplied by the Secretariat on transport questions referred to the regional commissions by their parent body, the Economic and Social Council.

Mr. J. H. T. Clarke, the Chief of the Transport Division, left Bangkok for Burma, India and Pakistan yesterday to confer with the Governments of these countries on the forthcoming conference.

"WRITERS' CLINIC" FOR COLONY

As a result of the short story writing competition held last spring by the Literary Group, it has been decided to start a "writers' clinic" for members of the Sino-British Club.

Stories for reading and discussion at the first meeting should be submitted by the first week in November to Miss C. M. Mather, Hong Kong University. Miss Mather will also supply further details to anyone interested, on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

Membership of the Sino-British Club is open to the public. The subscription is $10 dollars annually and should be sent to Mr. A. R. Reid, Hon. Treasurer of the Club, c/o Hong Kong Telephone Co., Ltd., Telephone House.

EVENING CLASSES

The Director of the Evening Institute announced yesterday that all evening classes in book-keeping, accounting, costing, English (Advanced, Business and Elementary), shorthand and handwriting have been filled and that all successful applicants have been informed.

The Director regrets that it was not possible to inform individually the many hundreds of unsuccessful applicants.

ALLEGED PIRATES ON TRIAL

Further evidence for the prosecution was given yesterday at the Criminal Sessions at the trial of seven Chinese charged with piracy with violence on the high seas.

The accused are alleged to have taken part in the piracy of a coastal vessel, Kwong Hoi Lee, on May 9 between Hainan Island and Canton, in which one person was killed and another wounded. They are Lam Hau 34, travelling trader; Lau Yuk-ming, aged 38, unemployed; Yam Kon, aged 40, travelling trader; Tang Kalming, aged 36, travelling trader; Wan Chung-wai, aged 21, greaser; Kwok Chung-kwong, aged 40, coxswain; and Chung Chun, aged 57, cook.

First four accused are defended by Mr. Charles Losely, KC, instructed by Mr. P. L. Lam. The other three are defended by Mr. S. V. Gillins on instructions of Mr. Peter Mo.

The prosecutor is Mr. A. Hooton, Crown Counsel, who is assisted by Detective Sub-Inspector W. H. Summers.

The trial is being heard by Mr. Justice Gould, Senior Puisne Judge, and a jury of four men and three women.

The alleged pirates are said to have intercepted the vessel in a motor boat off Nam Pang Island about half-way from Hainan to Canton, and transferred the vessel's cargo onto the motor boat.

Evidence was given yesterday by Kam Tak-ching, wife of a Chinese soldier, who testified as to events during the period when and after the boat on which she was travelling with her daughter was pirated.

Hearing continues this morning.

Tenancy Tribunal argument

A plan to demolish the present one-storey premises at 118, 120 and 122 Johnston Road and erect a large Chinese restaurant, on the site was put forward yesterday at the hearing of an application for exemption from the Landlord and Tenant Ordinance, heard before Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr, sitting as Tenancy Tribunal President.

The applicant is Mrs. Chun Shu-shan, wife of Mr. Lo Yuk-ton, well-known wealthy merchant and property owner in the Colony. She is represented by Mr. D. A. L. Wright instructed by Mr. F. Zimmerman.

Opposing the application are the Shui Kee firm, the Man Lee firm, and the Tai Sang firm, the tenants of the present premises, who are represented by Mr. A. J. Clifford on instructions of Mr. P. C. Wong.

Addressing the Tribunal, Mr. Wright said the area of the entire lot concerned was 2,168 square feet. The whole building was originally four stories, but this was reduced to one by aerial bombing during the war.

Counsel said that the cost of the restaurant to be built on the site was $20,000. Such an erection would serve in the development of the Colony as a whole and would be to the benefit of the community in general, he asserted.

Mr. Tak-lam, architect, of 10 Queen's Road Central gave evidence as to having submitted the building plans to the building authority, which approved them with some slight amendments.

Hearing continues today.

LECTURE ON THE CINEMA

The Literary Group of the Sino-British Club will begin its activities this year, with a lecture-discussion on the subject of films on Friday at 8.30 p.m.

The Rev. Fr. A. Cooney, SJ, will introduce the subject with a talk entitled "A Critical Approach to the Cinema." This will be followed by a general discussion of the film situation in Hong Kong.

The meeting will be held in the British Council Library, Gloucester Building. The public will be welcome.

From the Korean front, where he covered the Republic of Korea's 17th Regiment in battle, "Life" War Photographer David Douglas Duncan cabled "Life" International: "I came upon two medics bandaging a faint-faced peasant woman who had ignored the Army's warning and stayed on her land. She had Communist shell fragments in her head. As the medics probed for pieces of steel, her infant son needed for his breakfast. Then a neighbour approached and mumbled a few words. Her head flew back and her eyes filled with anguish. She had been told that her other son had just died of wounds suffered in the same shellburst." This picture, taken under fire in Korea, is part of a report on the Republic of Korea's army in "Life" International for September 25. (Courtesy Life Int'l. Copyright Time Inc. 1950).

IAS Group hears review of work

A review of the work of the International Affairs Study Group (Hong Kong) for the first half of 1950 was given by its Chairman, Dr. E. Stuart Kirby, at a meeting held in the British Council Library yesterday.

At the outset Dr. Kirby said the notice of the meeting in the paper was somewhat misleading.

In it he was said to be giving a lecture on Hong Kong and International Events, whereas in fact the meeting was merely to get the ball rolling for the Group's winter season, during which it was hoped members would take up discussions or give talks on Hong Kong in its relation to international events.

However, the notice seemed to have attracted little attention, or perhaps the threatened typhoon was to blame, for the attendance was extremely poor. Only about 10 people were present.

In his review Dr. Kirby said in the early part of the year meetings were held on a variety of subjects.

Meetings open to the public included lectures and discussions on Current Progress in the Philippines, Colonial Statistics, Higher Education in the British Colonies, the work of the United Nations in the Far East, and public library facilities in Hong Kong.

Closed meetings (for members only) discussed such topics as diplomatic currents in the Pacific Area, the work of the International Labour Office in the Far East, and the situation of the farmers in the New Territories.

TWO GALA PREMIERES TONIGHT

Gala Premieres of two outstanding pictures—one British and the other American—will be held tonight at the Roxy and Leo Theatres, respectively.

The Roxy, which boasts that "Movies are Better Than Ever," is screening "They Were Not Divided," a Drama Circle production which will come by invitation only. By kind permission of Lieutenant Colonel A. S. Shaw-Ball, DSO, the King's Shropshire Light Infantry Band will play the overture, conducted by Mr. G. W. G. Hey.

"They Were Not Divided," which starts tonight at 8.40 p.m. will open to the public on Sunday at the Roxy and Broadway Theatres.

Over at the Leo, meanwhile, Cecil B. DeMille will hold the spotlight with the opening of his "Samson and Delilah," a Technicolor picture starring Hedy Lamarr and Victor Mature. "Samson and Delilah" has done tremendous business wherever it has been shown, and the Leo Theatre expects to hang the "House Full" sign outside its doors for at least a few weeks.

ARMED ROBBERY CHARGES

Committal proceedings on charges of armed robbery and possession of arms without a permit were started against two Chinese at Central yesterday before Mr. J. Reynolds.

Li Chuen and Li Siu were alleged to have robbed Chan Chuk of $2,693.20.

They were also charged with the possession of a revolver and an automatic pistol.

Detective Sub-Inspector A. Baggett conducted the case for the prosecution and said that at 9 a.m. on July 31, four Chinese went to the first floor of 270 Des Voeux Road West.

The premises were occupied by the Sam Hing Pig Dealers. Complaint admitted one of the men. Immediately the first one entered, three others followed. Two of them had a revolver and an automatic pistol.

Once inside the premises, the robbers herded the occupants into the safe and took $2,693.20.

The robbers also bound and gagged the occupants with bamboo wires.

First accused was arrested on August 6. He took the police to Yau-mat where they found the second accused. The pistol and revolver were on second accused. Hearing was adjourned to 2.30 p.m. today.

Transit Shed C on Marine Lot No. 431, North Point Wharves, Hong Kong, was de-requisitioned and handed back to the owners on September 29. It was requisitioned for the Army on May 31 1949.

HELP STOP TOOTH DECAY with Colgate Dental Cream

Exhaustive Research on Hundreds of People by Eminent Dental Authorities Proves How Using Colgate Dental Cream Helps Stop Tooth Decay Before It Starts!

NOW dental science offers scientific proof that always using Colgate Dental Cream right after eating actually helps stop tooth decay!

Continuous research—hundreds of case histories—makes this the most important news in dental history!

For now—the same toothpaste you use to clean your breath while you clean your teeth—offers a safe, proved way to reduce tooth decay!

No Change in Flavor, Foam, Or Cleansing Action!

Colgate Dental Cream has been proved to contain all the necessary ingredients—including an exclusive ingredient—for effective daily dental care. No risk of irritation to tissues and gums! And no change in Colgate's famous flavor, foam, or cleansing action!

The Colgate Dental Cream now at your dealer's is the same formula used in the tests. No claim is made that using Colgate's can stop all tooth decay, or help cavities already started. But brushing teeth right after eating is the safe, proved way to help prevent new cavities, help stop tooth decay with Colgate Dental Cream.

X-RAYS SHOW HOW PROPER USE OF COLGATE'S HELPS STOP TOOTH DECAY! Eminent dental authorities supervised 2 groups of college men and women for over a year. One group always brushed their teeth with Colgate's right after eating. The other group followed their usual dental care. X-rays were taken at regular intervals. The average of the group using Colgate's Dental Cream was a startling reduction in number of cavities—far less tooth decay! The other group developed new cavities at a much higher rate!

NO OTHER DENTIFRICE OFFERS PROOF OF THESE RESULTS

After three heart tops he collected the club K, A and Q, discarding the spade 5, then was flustered to see West toss off a dia-

high club, so there was no way to shed the spade 8, which had to be given up to the K for the setting trick.

A more astute declarer would have noted the danger—yes, probability—that the missing six clubs would not be dealt divided. He would have played only two top trumps and a top club, then would have played with the third trump and the last two clubs for spade cards. Thus he would have based his hopes on a probable division of clubs instead of an improbable 3-3. The method he actually used, should not have been tried unless he required three discards. He needed only two.

ANNUAL CONGRESS OF LABOUR PARTY

Margate, October 2.

Delegates to the annual congress of the Labour Party, which opened here today, lashed out at Communism, American capitalism, the British attitude to the Schuman Plan, and State ownership.

Cabinet chiefs, from the Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, downwards, sat on the platform as the critics aired their grievances.

A Manchester delegate, Mr. Harry Ratner, declared that he did not believe that Western forces were in Korea to maintain democracy or resist aggression.

While condemning Russia, he added, "But it is no excuse for the labour movement to align itself with the reactionary forces."

"American capitalism is the leading party of imperialism and reaction in the world today," he said.

The conference rejected a motion by Mr. Ratner opposing the conference's report on Korea.

Mr. Richard Edwards of the Vehicle Builders' Union, regretted the Government's attitude in staying out of the talks on the Schuman coal-steel pool plan.

He declared that if a united European Socialist State was not achieved they would get a united European Capitalist State with a danger of European industry becoming a cartel controlled by American capitalists.

ownership of basic industries had failed to bring the improvements they had hoped for.

Resolutions sponsored by the Amalgamated Engineering Union called for a review of high salaries and administrative expenses. They also demanded that at least half the members of Management Boards should be elected by the workers.

Moving one resolution, Mr. Richard Openshaw declared that in some respects workers were worse off under State ownership than before.

Mr. Arthur Deakin, chief of the Transport and General Workers' Union, had to shout above cries of dissent as he told the engineers, "It is damned desirable of you to put your colleagues on the Board of Nationalised Industries on the spot."

By card votes, representing 2,878,000 members against 1,891,000, the conference curtailed discussion of the nationalisation resolutions and prevented any vote being taken on them.

Communist fraud

The Chairman, a former coal-miner, Mr. Sam Watson, in his opening address, said that the threat of war would vanish if the Communists honestly desired peace. But the Communist-inspired "Stockholm Peace Petition" was just a fraud.

"We place our faith in collective security—a policy we have consistently advocated since 1918," he said, "but collective security carries responsibility. We cannot preach collective security and our own complete disarmament at the same time."

The stormiest critic of Labour policy was Mr. Ratner. He did not believe that Western forces were in Korea to maintain democracy or resist aggression.

"Fundamentally, this is an attempt to maintain a foothold for imperialism in Asia and re-impose on the Korean people a regime which they rejected in elections last year," he stated.

He realised that Moscow had sought to use the struggle in Korea as a bargaining point for such things as the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

"But this is no excuse for the Labour movement to align itself with the reaction forces," he declared. "American capitalism is the leading party of imperialism and reaction in the world today."

Relations with China

Lord Strabolgi asked what the Party would do to contact and maintain friendly relations with a delegation from Communist China which is due in London. It seemed that the delegation was being left completely to the Communists, he said.

Lord Strabolgi also asked if the Party executives would consider sending a delegation to Peking as soon as possible.

Mr. Hugh Dalton, Chairman of the Party's International Committee, said that the British Government was one of the first to recognise Communist China. They would not be backward in establishing friendly relations with the delegation as soon as they could contact it.

To a delegate who asked the Party to press the Government to give economic aid to Yugoslavia, Mr. Dalton said that both the Executive and the Government were very anxious to have the most friendly relations with Yugoslavia.—Reuter.

NATIONALISATION IN MALAYA

Singapore, October 3.

The nationalisation of tin and rubber, and of public utility services in the Federation and Singapore, is one of the recommendations of a blueprint drawn up by the Economic and Political Committee of the Labour Party of Singapore.

The Committee thinks that all land is national wealth and cannot, therefore, be permanently alienated from the people. Planned distribution of land on an equitable basis is recommended by the Committee. According to the Committee, no person should own more than five acres of land in Malaya.

The Committee also calls for the immediate unification of the Federation and Singapore into a single political entity for economic, cultural and administrative purposes.—Reuter.

FILIPINO YACHT MISSING

Manila, October 2.

The Filipino-owned yacht Natividad, carrying an unannounced number of persons, has been missing since last night on a voyage to the Southern Islands, according to an announcement by the Department of National Defence.

The 150-foot yacht, carrying the prominent Manila businessman Mr. J. Amado Araneta, among others, left port yesterday afternoon for the South and is believed to have taken refuge from the high winds skirting the Luzon typhoon.

Philippine Air Force planes and Naval Patrol Boats are searching for the yacht around the coasts of Cavite, Batangas and Mindoro. The authorities believe the Natividad put in probably at one of the numerous coves on the Batangas coast.—United Press.

Federation of space scientists

Paris, October 2.

Space scientists conferring here decided to form an international federation and pool information on inter-planetary travel.

Mr. Valentine Leaver, president of the British Inter-Planetary Society, told Reuter that they were convinced it will be possible to fly to the moon within a matter of decades.

The scientists, who have been attending a three-day congress, decided that the first meeting of their new federation would be held next September in London.

Professor Eugen Singer, a German scientist, was unanimously elected by the six nationalities as first president of the federation.—Reuter.

PURGE IN PRAGUE VARSIITY

Prague, October 2.

Five professors and four lecturers in philosophy at Prague University have been dismissed. It was learned today at the start of the new University term.

No official explanation has been given but the reason for this action is undoubtedly to be found in a recent statement by Professor Zdenek Nejedlik, the Minister of Education, Science and Arts, that Czechoslovak universities must get rid of the "aristocratic spirit" which has become rooted in them.

In a proclamation issued today, on the occasion of the new University term, the State University Committee stressed the role of the universities in building up socialism in Czechoslovakia and quoted a statement by the President, Dr. Gottwald, that "the working people must educate their own intelligentsia, coming from them and connected with them through class affiliation and ideologically." The proclamation said that the main task was the "ideological transformation of science and arts on the basis of dialectical and historical materialism."—Reuter.

ELECTIONS IN BRAZIL

Rio de Janeiro, October 2.

With Federal troops stationed near polling booths and power stations in many cities where trouble is feared, about 7,800,000 Brazilians are expected to vote tomorrow for a new President and Vice-President.

They will also be electing a new Chamber of Deputies and one-third of the Senate.—Reuter.

A boxer tells his ring secrets--No. 3:

FIGHTING IS MY LIFE

By. Ted Broadribb

Needless to say, I didn't do any of the camp that year, though, Gerry Shyn, the quartermaster, used to give a tanner each to boys who would have three rounds, and I took on such as Tommy Nye, Charlie Catchpole, Charlie Wise, Charlie Jenkins and Mo Levy, which was very good experience for me.

What a good thing I made of the camp that year, though, Gerry Shyn, the quartermaster, used to give a tanner each to boys who would have three rounds, and I took on such as Tommy Nye, Charlie Catchpole, Charlie Wise, Charlie Jenkins and Mo Levy, which was very good experience for me.

With these shillings I became the camp money-lender.

I lent two pence for three pence until the next pay-day, and I used to hang around the tents where the boys were playing "crown and anchor" and "over-and-under" to wait to lend it.

One fellow who gambled heavily, and lost, was the camp barber. I lent him so much that he finally decided he couldn't pay me back, and gave me a half-share in the barber's tent to settle the debt. I had fifty per cent of all the takings, and to help the business along I used to go in and do the lathering for the "shave" customers. When a rookie came in with a soft beard I even used to try my hand at shaving.

Mistakes

I made a few mistakes, of course. So I always had a packet of cigarette-papers handy to stick on when there was any blood around, and I used to tell them I had just taken a pimple off.

Towards the end of that camp it was becoming obvious that I wasn't going to get back my dough, as a lot of the fellows owed me more than they could be expected to pay. I knew, though, that some of their personal equipment became their own property—such as boots, socks and underwear—and so I wrote to my brother to come along for the break-up with some sacks.

So when they couldn't pay, I took the debts in kind. I finished up with £15 and a few sacks of boots, which wasn't so bad if you realise that when the camp began I was "broke".

When I got home to Walworth no pre-digal son ever received a warmer welcome. It was the boots, of course, which did it. My old man went out and sold them at seven shillings a pair, and everyone was happy, until I got broke again—and then I got another "belting" and was slung out once more.

You might think all this didn't make me a very bright prospect for a life in boxing, but I joined the Dulwich College Mission, a boy's club run by a Mr. Marsh, who devoted his life to trying to make the wild boys of Walworth better citizens.

It opened up a new future for me. I began to attend the Sunday service, my mother disappeared and I got used to wearing a collar regularly, and cleaned my boots as well.

Right and wrong

I had led a life of might is right, and it was a strange experience to learn from Mr. Marsh the difference between right and wrong; but I am happy to say I benefited from his help, and I am sure the other boys did, too.

In fact, although there have been setbacks, I've never really done anything bad (apart from telling the white lies one has to in the boxing business) since Mr. Marsh's arrival. My wife and I, who had known each other from school days, started well behind scratch, with one room and a few pieces of furniture, including a couple of chairs.

When visitors called we borrowed more chairs from our landlord, a well-respected Covent Garden porter named Bill Hudd. I worked as a bricklayer, helping to repair the brickwork underneath the boilers in Lavington Street, Southwark, and the few golden sovereigns I earned went into our "safe"—a soup tureen.

We struggled on until we added to the home and managed to get two rooms in Walworth, and slowly made progress. From the comfort I know today, those other days seem a long way off. But the memory of them is just as vivid now as when it all happened. It's no wonder, really is it?

One week a championship contender, the next a has-been, or very nearly that was my lot in February, 1911.

The night Peerless Jim Driscoll beat Frank "Solke" Robson at the old National Sporting Club in Covent Garden, he said before he entered the ring that his boxing days were numbered. That meant a great deal for I knew that I had only to do well to step right into the championship picture.

Stoker Allan was my opponent, and he was an old-timer like Jimmy Butler, famous critic and referee of other days, who will tell you to this day that it ranks among the best fights they ever saw.

It was an uncompromising toe-to-toe slog, and I don't think I ever encountered anyone in the ring with such strength as Allan. I remember now that on one occasion he charged across the ring at me, and although I stuck three lefts into his face on the way I might just as well have been trying to stop a runaway train, and at the end of the trip he almost decapitated me with a right swing.

Terrific punches

He was so strong, so game, so furious in everything he did that I never thought I should lick him. Each of us went down in turn to terrific punches, and it was one of those nights at the NISC when the "Quiet" Place order had about as much chance of being effective with that blood-soaked crowd as it would have with the winning goal in a Cup Final.

Anyway, I won, and I felt good. You always feel good when you win, and it happened to be for £50 a side, which was a lot of money to me in those days. It was as a result of that clation that I forgot all about something which had happened in the dressing-room before the fight. When I was shadow-boxing to warm up, I felt something go "ping" in my back. I had a slight pain, and I told Fred Alexander, who back then, but he said it would be all right, and so I let it pass.

Next day, though, I could scarcely move. I thought it was lumbago, and I was a bit worried, because I was due to fight Wally Plekard at Holborn Empire the following Monday and everyone was saying that if I overcame him I would be well on the way to a title.

I waited until the Thursday, and then I told Jack Callaghan, the promoter, that it would be impossible for me to box. Callaghan came to see me. With him he brought not a doctor, but a newspaperman. "I insisted that I shouldn't be fit to fight, and I can tell you it was tough for me to have to say that at any time, because I needed the dough. But the newspaperman said: 'Are you sure it's your back?' 'Are you sure that did it?' 'I couldn't resist the one. 'Forget it,' I said. 'No fight.'"

So it was that I went in, second on the Harry Lewis-Jim Harris bill, against the "rubber man" who used to box exhibitions with Joe Bowler. For my part I knew that I had to get it over quickly if I had any chance at all, and since Plekard never wanted any trouble with preliminaries, it was a fierce slam-while it lasted. And it lasted only two rounds.

Back for more

I shoved lefts into his face, and hooked him repeatedly to the jaw, but he was always coming back for more, and handing out heavier punishment than I was receiving. At the end of the first round I may have been ahead on points, for clean hitting, but my strength had gone, and it must have been obvious to the customers that it couldn't last very long.

But the end was a sensational one. Plekard had been banging me around, and then, in a clinch, he put his arm round me and gave me the half-nelson. I fell on my back, and Bill Natty, my second, called me to the corner, taking it for granted that Plekard would be disqualified for throwing; but to our surprise the referee, John Murray, gave the decision to him.

And just like that my aspirations as a featherweight championship contender vanished into thin air. I lost only four other fights in the three seasons I was boxing, but even the last one, although, truth to be told, I should never have done.

Charlie Dixon, of Southwark, was my opponent at the Ring, Blackfriars, in the autumn of 1911. Twice during the bout I butted Dixon "accidentally." Nobody saw me do it, but Dixon knew it, and when he butted me openly in retaliation he was disqualified.

That fight had an inside story, and it was more than 30 years before Dixon forgave me for my part in it. Both of us being local boys, there had been a good deal of "mixing" to try to get us together. So I went to Dick Burge, who ran the Ring, to ask him to give me 50 per cent of the gate for the fight. He said "Yes, but what about Dixon?" And I said "Leave him to me."

Net receipts

So I guaranteed Dixon £40 out of my end. The net receipts were £240—remember ringside seats didn't cost five guineas in those days. I got £280—out of which I had to pay my manager, who didn't arrange the fight, 25 per cent—and Dixon got £240. He had no quarrel about the cash, for, like myself, he had probably been fighting for about £1 a round before; but he knew all about the butting, and he knew that I was really the one who should have been disqualified.

It wasn't until one night during the last war that he forgave me. I went down to a show at a little drill hall near Rotherhithe—a charity show. Dixon was one of the seconds, and he nodded to me, not very approvingly. During the evening an appeal was made, and I gave a "five." Then Dixon came across to me and said "What I've heard about you, then, is true," and shook hands warmly.

I was glad we settled that score, and when Charlie died about 18 months ago I collected £275 for his widow, who was a sister of Jim Sullivan, another fighter of my day, who died only a few weeks ago.

I decided to retire because I had had trouble with my eyes. My vision was good, but when I got a punch on the nose it caused blood to trickle from the corners of my eyes, and I knew I couldn't box too well on the defensive, so I thought I ought to call it a day. What probably caused me to make the decision was the knowledge that Andrew Jephtha, of South Africa, was going blind, and I didn't want to find myself in the same boat. I decided to try promoting, and for my first venture, at Manor Place Baths, Walworth, I decided on a "benefit"—for myself.

Tickled to death

I had to put it on because I was broke once more—after I and two of my pals, Ned Duggan and Judah Barnett, had had a crack at learning to be taxi drivers. I had put up the cash for that venture, which wasn't very successful, and I was tickled to death with myself as a boxing promoter. I asked the boys to box a bit cheap, so that I could show a profit. I well remember when I was planning that show a little thin-faced kid coming to me and saying he would box eight rounds for 12 shillings and sixpence, and 10 or 15 rounds for 15 shillings. I said "Six rounds will be plenty for you. Fix your eye. I can't." I made myself about £40, and was very pleased with my start as a promoter. So I put on a second show. This time things didn't go so well. I finished up with a programme money to the staff, and all the takings went, as well as my first 40 pounds.

Broke again, and back once more to bricklaying. There are easier ways than that of making a living, and I tried book making—one of two incursions into the racing field, of which more later.

All the time, though, I stayed as close to boxing as I could. Johnny Matheson, the "Fighting Scot," was managed by Billy Ames, who had been my own manager, and Johnny came and asked me if Matheson could lodge with me. We put him up for £1 a week, and Ames fixed him a fight with a fellow named James. The fight was in Wales, and Matheson came home with £25, which he had to send to his wife.

Johnny fought a return, and the same thing happened. So I saw Ames and said "What are you going to do about Matheson. He hasn't paid me anything for seven weeks."

Ames replied "He's no good—I think I'll send him back to Scotland." So I said "If you don't want him, can I have him?" The answer was "Yes," and that's how I became a fully-fledged manager.

I took Johnny Matheson to Birmingham to fight Harry Lewis of America. Matheson's chances were regarded so lightly that they were only betting on how many rounds he would last—it was 10 to one on Lewis winning by a knock-out.

But Matheson went all the way—and won on points. Within 12 months he had beaten the Dixie Kid four times, Blunk McCleskey, drawn with Mike Glover and Bob Scanlon, and lost a close decision over 20 rounds with Bandsman Dick Rice. And instead of his "fivers," Matheson was getting from £100 to £150 a fight.

Matheson fought at the Ring quite often, and I began to be sought after by rising boxers—who knew that, if I could help Matheson, I could help them better than other managers they had to pay as well as "forking out" to them to train, teach and second them.

I took over Dai Roberts, and looked after George Clarke, Tommy Noble—Twice-Nightly Tommy, they called him—Bert McCleskey, Billy Wells and Dido Gains. Noble got his non-deplume because in one year he had 53 fights, and finished up as British bantamweight champion.

Since those days I've handled champions and near-champions at every weight. I have had fighters in 27 London Belt contests, winning two outright with Jack Hood and Neil Tarleton. I gave Len Harvey his first contest in London. I seconded Freddy Mills against him in his last. And I've taken Freddy to the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

They are achievements of which I am proud—really proud. I feel that the boys I have handled have had the benefit of the experience I gained in my early struggles, because I have always tried to do everything I could to see that their lot has been a happier one than mine was. But how different it might have been had Johnny Matheson been able to pay for his keep.

Legal action taken against UK strikers

London, October 2. The Government today started legal action against certain leaders of North London's 17-day-old gas workers' strike.

Applications for summonses have been granted against 10 men leading 1,500 maintenance men in their strike for a three-pence an hour pay increase.

The order under which they were granted states that any person employed by an authority supplying gas or water (electricity was added later) committed a criminal offence if he wilfully and maliciously breaks his contract of service "knowing it will deprive inhabitants wholly or to a great extent of their supply of gas or water."

The Act provides for a maximum fine on conviction of £20 or three months' gaol. —Reuter.

POUND REVALUATION?

Anglo-American talks result in rumours

GAITSKELL TO VISIT U.S.

London, October 2.

Surprise Anglo-American money talks called for next week sharpened rumours today that Britain may soon raise the dollar value of the Pound.

The country's acting Treasury chief, Hugh Gaitskell, announced unexpectedly that he will fly to the United States and Canada for a one-week visit beginning October 8 to discuss mutual economic problems.

Government spokesmen said the talks would be informative. He will meet the American Secretary for the Treasury, Mr John Snyder.

Mr. Gaitskell's flying visit—coming soon after Canada freed its dollar—was linked immediately in financial circles with persisting speculation that a boost of the British Pound is near. Parallel moves by Australia and Pakistan were similarly rumoured.

Informed sources reported that a top subject for discussion in Washington will be the conflict between Britain's recovery and defence spending programmes. This country has asked the United States for about US$1,500,000,000 worth of help to finance a proposed three-year rearmament programme. So far the United States has not formally answered the request.

A Treasury announcement stressed the visit will not be the occasion for formal negotiations of any kind.

A spokesman explained that Mr. Gaitskell, who is deputising for Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, needs to have the fullest possible understanding of the American view of global finance policy. He has not visited North America before.

Canada's decision

It is pretty certain, the informants reported, that the Minister will discuss the effects on British economy of Canada's decision to free the dollar. Britain buys a lot of wheat and raw materials of all kinds among other things from her Commonwealth partner. An increase in the value of the Canadian dollar will impose a greater strain on Britain's dollar reserves—unless she too increases the value of Sterling from its present rate of US$2.80 to the Pound.

A Treasury spokesman refused to say directly whether Mr. Gaitskell would discuss Sterling revaluation with U. S. leaders. All he would say in reply to a reporter's question was that Mr. Gaitskell is going over purely for informative and informal talks.

The Treasury deliberately avoids commenting on the revaluation rumours even though the most qualified Government informants here dismiss the talk as premature. One reason is that the rumour in fact helps to strengthen Sterling. The result has been the value of the Pound has been going up on the world's free money markets. A sustained rise in confidence in the long run could lead to a successful revaluation.

Reserves doubled

A second reason is that this Government, like any government, would want to keep its revaluation intentions secret as long as possible to avoid widespread financial dislocation through speculation. Mr. Gaitskell is due to announce that Britain's gold dollar reserves have more than doubled themselves since the Pound was cut

Denial of revaluation rumours

New York, October 2.

British officials here today denied rumours that Mr. Hugh Gaitskell, Minister for Economic Affairs, would discuss the revaluation of sterling during his visit to the United States.

Mr. Gaitskell is visiting this country and Canada from October 8 to 14. —Reuter.

30 per cent on September 18, 1949. The Minister is expected to tell the country it has gained between US$400,000,000 and US$500,000,000 in the past three months, bringing the gold-dollar reserves to around US$2,850,000,000.

The improvement in the Sterling area's gold-dollar position is held attributable mainly to the sharp cuts in dollar spending, aided by a boom in commodity prices caused by rearmament. Britain has benefited because her colonies and Commonwealth partners produce many strategic raw materials. —Associated Press.

BRITISH TRIBUTE TO TITO

Belgrade, October 2.

Yugoslavia is one of the world's most completely independent countries, according to Lord Boyd Orr, President of the Council of the World Movement for Federal Government, who recently visited it.

He was today reported by Tanjug, the official news agency, as saying here that Yugoslavia had refused to be exploited by one Big Power and simultaneously refused to sell herself to another.

"I have travelled freely in many parts of Yugoslavia and I was impressed by the enthusiasm of the people in the factories and the freedom of discussion and criticism."

"If the Yugoslav Government succeeds, as I believe it will, the standard of living will rise more rapidly in the next few years than in the developed countries of West Europe", Lord Boyd Orr said.

He added that he had not seen any war preparation in Yugoslavia nor heard any talk of war. —Reuter

Finnish strikes spread rapidly

Helsinki, October 2.

The number of striking Finns soared to 115,000 today as Finland neared the end of her two-day nation-wide local Government elections. The strikes are sponsored by the Socialists who appear likely to use any gains at the polls to enforce the wage demands of the strikers.

The current elections do not affect Parliamentary seats, but the minority coalition Government of Dr. Urho Kekkonen is nevertheless in a delicate position. Out of Parliament's 200 seats, the Government coalition parties command only 75.

Even before the closing of the polls there were reports of a Socialist attempt to forge a new coalition to defeat the Kekkonen Cabinet, which is firmly opposed to any large-scale wage increases.

A reliable informant said this afternoon that the Socialists had opened negotiations with the Conservative Party and also hoped to win over the Liberals and the Swedish People's Party. The Liberals and the Swedes are both in the current coalition.

What is being envisaged, the informant said, is either an all-Socialist minority government in close co-operation with Conservatives, Liberals and Swedes or a coalition Cabinet including all four parties.

The Agrarian Party of Dr. Kekkonen, and the Communists, would be left outside, he added.

Success doubtful

Although a Socialist minority government headed by Mr. K. A. Fagerholm had ruled for several years with the backing of these parties, political experts were doubtful of the outcome of the Socialist scheme.

Non-Socialist parties are believed to be very reluctant to embark on any new venture that might mean future inflation.

The current strikes are causing employers losses of millions of marks a day.

As from today, Finland will have to pay indemnities to Russia for delay in her war reparation deliveries to the Soviet Union caused by the walk-outs, according to Mr. Ilmarinen, chief of the Department for War Reparation Deliveries.

Voting was low today because of heavy rains in most of Finland. This was believed to favour the Leftists and the Swedish People's Party, which are generally regarded as having the best election machinery in the country. Polls closed at 8 p.m. local time. Because of slow tabulation methods preliminary results are not expected until tomorrow afternoon. —Associated Press.

WESTERN WARNING TO COMMUNISTS

Lake Success, October 2.

The Western nations today admitted the inability of the United Nations to enforce the observance of human rights behind the Iron Curtain, but warned Communist officials in the Cominform countries that they might be the next victims of terror.

In speeches before the Assembly's ad hoc Political Committee, the Australian Foreign Minister, Mr. Percy Spender, and Mr. Benjamin Cohen of the United States charged Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania with violation of their peace treaties and called on the Assembly to condemn formally the three Governments for denying fundamental human rights to their citizens. —United Press.

SHOW OF FORCE IN GERMANY

Dortmund, October 2.

Over 1,200 Communist youths were arrested in all parts of Western Germany today as police everywhere smashed attempts to stage "peace" demonstrations in defiance of bans.

The strong show of force by almost 100,000 police, some of them armed with Sten guns and rifles for the first time, prevented violent countrywide demonstrations.

Several short clashes between Communist youths and police were reported from different parts of the country, the most serious being in the large harbour of Hamburg.

There, several policemen were injured and 86 blue-shirted Communist youths were arrested when the Communists stoned police as they broke up a demonstration by 2,000 persons.

Karl Arnold, Vice-Chairman of the "Kampf" (Struggle) of North Rhine-Westphalia, told the German police that they had won their "finest success" yesterday in thwarting Communist youth attempts to stage "peace" demonstrations in defiance of bans.

More than 1,200 Communists, mostly members of the blue-shirted Free German Youth Organisation, were arrested in various parts of West Germany in minor clashes between the police and Blue Shirts yesterday when they tried to demonstrate.

Special precautions were taken in the Ruhr area, where the Communists are strongest, and Herr Arnold, in his message today, thanked the police for their exemplary attitude and indefatigable efficiency yesterday.

About 600 Communists were arrested in North Rhine-Westphalia.

The Hamburg police announced tonight that they had arrested Friedrich Dettmann, the leader of the Communist faction in the Hamburg Parliament, on suspicion of having participated in inciting public disorder.

Herr Dettmann, a member of the local Communist Party Executive, is alleged to have assisted in organising yesterday's "peace demonstrations" in which 10 police were injured. —Reuter.

WAR GAMES IN MEDITERRANEAN

Valletta, October 2.

Warships of four nations were converging on Malta today for an exercise by the Mediterranean Fleet to test anti-submarine, anti-aircraft and other defences.

The manoeuvres, which are being watched by Service chiefs from the United States, Italy and France, began at Cagliari, Sardinia. They end tomorrow. During the "attack" Corsair fighter planes from a United States aircraft carrier will fly over the island. —Reuter.

Brilliant French coup in Tonkin

Saigon, October 2.

In a daring 36-mile dash from the Uanoi delta area up through the rugged Tonkinese mountains, French Union troops on Sunday seized Thainguyen, principal stronghold of the Communist-led Vietminh.

Overnight the French recaptured the initiative in the crucial struggle for North Indo-China.

French troops stogged up the typhoon rain-swept Colonial Route No. 3 and broke into the mountain communications hub at 5 p.m. local time on Sunday.

Two flanking columns and paratrooper units dropped North of the city joined in the final successful assault.

Delayed frontline reports said that French troops were still mopping up scattered resistance in the Thainguyen area.

French military sources said late tonight that the Vietminh resistance had probably already ended.

Neutral military observers said the brilliantly executed French operations through the treacherous mountain country must have caught the Vietminh unprepared.

Quite unexpected

Ho Chi Minh's forces had been massed on the North Indo-China frontier threatening French positions.

The French thrust into the core of the mountainous Vietminh position came unexpectedly from the South. French occupation of Thainguyen has cancelled out several times over the Vietminh capture of the frontier post of Dongkhe and the recent evacuation of Pakha on the Western end of the frontier defence line.

The main body of Vietminh forces remains in North Indo-China, however. There was only sporadic resistance along the route of advance.

Combined ops

Some 40,000 of an estimated 100,000 regular Vietminh troops are believed to be concentrated in North Indo-China. They are better trained and equipped and more carefully Communist indoctrinated than Vietminh units operating in the Southern part of the country.

The attack on Thainguyen was a combined operation. French paratroopers, Foreign Legionnaires, North Africans and Vietnamese troops took part. The French Air Force gave close support and small naval gunboats were operating on the rivers.

In Thainguyen the French hold positions dominating the road and canal network which could have been the Vietminh invasion highway to the rich and densely-populated Red River Delta where Hanoi and Haiphong are situated. —Associated Press.

SUGGESTIONS FROM PARIS

These evening hats are typical of Paulette's new and lovely collection. The big restaurant hat is in a deep hyacinth blue velvet. The medieval hat with curving brim at sides and back is in fine gold lame, used for several evening models, while the Mary Queen of Scots model at the top is in black velvet with a rhinestone jewel in the centre. With this and a number of others Paulette shows a tiny yashmak veil sprinkled with very fine paillettes.

The two short evening frocks are by Lola Prussac, famous for her beautiful embroideries and hand-knitted models. The two-piece is in heavy black and blue tulle applied with a black silk braid. The other frock is in black and white heavy shot silk applied with black and red crin.

Youth has no monopoly on charm

By Mary Ellen Watson

Middle-aged women who will go to see Gloria Swanson in "Sunset Boulevard" will sigh when the theatre lights go on, thinking "I remember her when."

If they finish the sentence, it would probably be "I remember when she was a screen siren 30 years ago, and she certainly hasn't changed much since then." It's true. Old-time moviegoers will have no trouble recognizing the bathing beauty of the '20's. Gloria has maintained her youthful figure and vitality. The absence of lines in her complexion is remarkable when you consider that she is 51 years old, with three children and three grand-children. Have divorced five husbands and probably broken a number of hearts not listed on court records, Gloria has not lost any of her appeal.

The way she has maintained her youthful appearance and attitude is a good example of mind over matter. Gloria's constant and varied interests in the world and its activities have kept her mind and body so active that "age just hasn't had a chance to catch up with me."

Meatless diet

She subsists largely on fruits and vegetables... has no interest in meat. She eats very little, simply because she doesn't care much about food, and frowns on women who overeat because of what it does to their figures. "That is one loss no man can overlook," says La Swanson. Miss Swanson attributes her lack of facial lines to the fact that she never worries. She fills her mind with happy thoughts forgetting the grimmer things in life. Gloria doesn't take sole credit for her smooth complexion, however. "My mother looks 20 years younger than she is, and my grandmother had scarcely a wrinkle," she claims. For years one of America's best-dressed women, the vivacious star has a natural flair for clothes. She usually wears black, which suits her exotic personality. She uses very little make-up except for lipstick and eye accents. This is no doubt to accentuate her sparkling white teeth and almond-shaped blue eyes, her most attractive features. This is a good idea for all women to take into consideration. Gloria feels that when a woman is older she should put more emphasis on charm than glamour, although she is certainly not short on glamour, regardless of age.

A lot more

In the days of silent films, an attractive face and figure counted for much. Now there is a lot more emphasis on personality, grace and voice. All of these are natural possessions of Miss Swanson, who has staged a marvelous comeback. Gloria's contemporaries, who have been her fans for 30 years, can take a new lease on life. After all, a woman isn't expected to sit back in her rocking chair of 50 with her knitting and give up the idea of being attractive. If they take proper care of themselves and put added emphasis on facial massage with creams prepared for older skins, their ages are minimized. Older women must be careful not to use too much make-up, because it is apt to reveal, rather than conceal, telltale lines. Regular trips to a hairdresser and soft hairdos complete the effort. And Gloria Swanson's ideas on having an active mind and body are worth looking into.

Dress cold war

By Florence Mills

The cold war seems to have gone to the heads of most French dress designers, for there is a definite Russian influence in the clothes they have created for autumn and winter.

Last spring they had a Chinese fixation with Mandarin coats and coolie hats. Now they are using conceivable opportunity.

The three-quarter length co-sack coat, with its tightly belted waist and full flaring skirt seems to be the root of all inspiration. Of course, the designers take a lot of liberties with it, add a bit here and take a bit away there, but it all adds up to spell Russia just the same.

Dior makes these tunic coats in heavy gray teddy bear and on pet-pile wool, worsted and tweed. He plumps up the hips with padding to give the silhouette the sort of curves Russian Cossacks probably lack.

Fath, who strips the tunic of all fullness and shows snaky-hipped affairs that button from neck to hem, goes so far as to christen practically every one of the 300 autumn models he has created with such Russian names as Petroushka, Czarina and Rimsky.

Box jacket

His "Czarina" is a box jacket of black Russian broadtail fur speckled with diamonds and widely banded around the bottom with white ermine to match the collar and cuffs.

"Cossack" is one of the few wide-skirted tunics shown by Fath. Made in burnt-orange wool, it had fullness roped into the waist with a wide black patent leather belt. Draped collar and cuffs were of black lamb.

Another designer, Jacques Griffe, goes for both full and straight-skirted tunics but combines them with immense collars which stand up to the ears and envelop the shoulders. He makes most of them of heavy English tweed.

A very flamboyant "Prince Igor" presented by Madelein Vramant, another designer, is in crimson wool and models strictly on Cossack lines. With it she teams a black and white diagonal check skirt and uses the same material for coat facings collar and cuffs and even gloves.

The lavishness of fur trimming, fur lined mantles and coats, and the enormous "magnum" fur muffs produced by every designer this season, all help to conjure up visions of Catherine the Great and the opulence of the Czarist courts.—Associated Press.

Soviet bloc proposes immediate cease-fire in the Korean war

Lake Success, October 2.

The Soviet bloc today proposed an immediate cease-fire in Korea, withdrawal of the United Nations forces and free national elections conducted by the North and South Korean governments jointly. The elections would be observed by a United Nations Committee on which Russia and Communist China would be represented.

UN opinion split on crossing

Lake Success, October 2. News that the South Koreans had pushed across the 38th Parallel, apparently on American orders, even before General MacArthur broadcast his surrender terms split United Nations opinion today.

There were some delegates—like India's fence-sitting Sir Benegal Rau—whose eyes were raised at the news. There were others—like the Philippines' plain-speaking Carlos Romulo—who held that existing Security Council resolutions empowered General MacArthur to cross the 38th Parallel at will. —United Press.

Chinese complaint for UN

Lake Success, October 2. Russia has asked for a meeting of the United Nations Security Committee to consider the inclusion in the Assembly's agenda of a Chinese Communist Government complaint that United States planes machine-gunned and bombed Chinese territory.

The request was made by the Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Vyshinsky, in a letter to the Secretary-General of the United Nations, Mr. Trygve Lie. Mr. Vyshinsky said that the Chinese People's Government complained against "the violation of Chinese air space by the Air Force of the United States of America and against the machine-gunning and bombing of Chinese territory by that Air Force."

In the Security Council last month the American delegate, Mr. Warren Austin, said that American planes might accidentally have violated Chinese territory.

The Soviet Union vetoed an American proposal for an investigation and a Soviet move to "condemn" America was rejected. —Reuter.

ONLY AIRPORT NORMAL AGAIN

Paris, October 2. Most of Air France's ground staff at Orly Airport, Paris, were back at work today after being sent on "paid leave" last Friday when some of them demonstrated against officials of the French airline.

Traffic was normal at the airport—the terminal of trans-Atlantic routes and some European services.

Yesterday about 2,250 of the staff involved received notice from the company to resume work. A spokesman of Air France said other "borderline cases" would be notified to return later, and that only about 10 would be dismissed. —Reuter.

STRIKE IN THE SAARLAND

Saarbrücken, October 2. Workers throughout the Saarland, except railway and public utility employees, today downed tools in a lightning general strike, the first here since the war.

The strike, launched in protest against rising living costs and to call for collective bargaining arrangements between workers and employers, is due to last until 5 a.m. G.M.T. tomorrow. —Reuter.

WOMAN DIES IN AIRLINER

London, October 3. A woman died on board a British airliner heading for London from the Jersey Channel Islands today.

Miss M. A. Phillips was taken ill when the airliner was 15 minutes out of Jersey. She was dead when taken from the plane. —Reuter.

CZECH TRIAL

Prague, October 2. Fifteen tradesmen, farmers and others have been sentenced to seven years' hard labour at Moravsky Krumlov, in Moravia, on charges of undermining the planned economy of the State by circumventing the regulations governing the purchase and delivery of grain and cattle.

The charges include "black-marketeering," "the economic plan," and "threatening the food supply of the towns." —Reuter.

Pending election of a permanent national government, Korea would be run by an "Interim all-Korean Committee" selected by the joint Assembly of the present legislatures of the Communist North and the Syngman Rhee Government of the South.

The resolution, submitted jointly by Russia, the Ukraine, Byelorussia, Poland and Czechoslovakia, contained seven points which went further than any previous Communist stand on Korea and gave a close resemblance to the peace feelers reported to have been despatched to India last week by the North Koreans through the Chinese Communists.

The Soviet resolution provided:

1. Immediate cease-fire in Korea.

2. Troops of the United States and other governments participating in the sanctions action be withdrawn from Korea immediately "to secure for the Korean people the possibility of enjoying the inalienable sovereign right to settle freely the internal affairs of their state".

"Free elections"

3. "That, after the withdrawal of foreign troops and for the purpose of establishing the government of a united and independent Korean state, all Korean elections to the National Assembly be held as soon as possible on the basis of expression of free will of the population of all Korea."

4. A "Parity Commission" representing North and South Korea be elected at the joint Assembly of the North and South Korean Parliaments, "to organise and conduct free all-Korean elections to the National Assembly of all Korea." This North-South Assembly would also designate an all-Korean Interim Committee to function until an all-Korean National Assembly is established.

5. A United Nations Committee, "with the immediate participation in it of representatives of States bordering on Korea," be established to observe nationwide elections.

6. The United Nations Economic and Social Council, draw up, with the participation of Korean representatives, plans for providing technical aid for Korean reconstruction through the United Nations.

7. The Security Council consider the election of Korea to the United Nations under the establishment of an "all-Korean government."

This was regarded as the Communist answer to General MacArthur's surrender terms, broadcast to the North Koreans last Saturday, and immediate reaction among the Western delegations was that the Soviet plan was not acceptable.

The Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Andrei Vyshinsky, opening the resumed debate on Korea in the Political Committee of the United Nations General Assembly, attacked the eight-Power resolution which calls for a stronger United Nations Commission to supervise the establishment of an unified Korea.

He said that a provision in the resolution for consultation between the Commission and the unified Military Command in Korea would have the effect of handing over the decision to the Command.

Vyshinsky's attack

The Soviet Union would introduce a resolution calling on the Assembly to halt the "inhuman bombings" of peaceful populations by American planes. He would insist that the United Nations Commission, which had "fanned the embers of civil war" be disbanded.

Mr. Vyshinsky accused the United States delegate, Mr. Warren Austin, of trying to shift the responsibility for events in Korea on to the Soviet Union.

Opening the resumed debate on Korea, Mr. Vyshinsky declared that Mr. Austin had no reason whatever to make such charges. "Everything he said was a deliberate and wilful misrepresentation of the facts," Mr. Vyshinsky added.

"U.S. challenges"

He said that it was the United States which had long challenged the basic principles of international law by violating the Moscow Agreement on Korea.

The Political Committee was "considering an eight-Power resolution providing for the establishment of a new and stronger United Nations Commission in Korea to supervise the attainment of an independent, unified Korea."

Mr. Vyshinsky, in an early comment on this resolution, said that it also provided for consultation with the unified Command.

"In other words," he declared, "it will be the unified Command

"Question fraught with danger"

New Delhi, October 2. The Indian Prime Minister, Pandit Nehru, said here today that how far the victorious United Nations forces in Korea should go was a question fraught with danger.

The latest position in Korea had revived fears of the spread of the areas of conflict, and the fact that Korea has the great neighbours of Russia and China made the situation critical, he said.

Pandit Nehru, who was addressing a public meeting, said that unless the war in Korea was brought to an end speedily the whole of that country would be destroyed.

Already half of Korea was in ruins and if the war continued, peace negotiations could only be held on the corpse of Korea. —Reuter.

which will be taking decisions," he said that using the unified Command for advisory purposes meant, in reality, giving it the power of making final decisions.

"Fascist State"

Mr. Vyshinsky said that South Korea was "wallowing in corruption under the terroristic Syngman Rhee regime."

The United States he alleged, had endeavoured to bolster this "Fascist State" where the "despicable masses" all hated the Syngman Rhee Government.

Such had been the position at the outbreak of the "civil war" which had been caused by the "blood-thirsty terror" of the Syngman Rhee regime which had refused to set up even an elementary democratic order in South Korea. It was, Mr. Vyshinsky said, expression of the masses in the South that had brought about the "civil war."

Mr. Vyshinsky repeated Soviet charges that Mr. John Foster Dulles, United States Republican Political Adviser, had been "in the trenches along the 38th Parallel just before the South attacked the North."

He added that American advisers had done their utmost to expedite military preparations, had trained the South Korean army, built aerodromes so that United States planes could begin operations at a moment's notice and ports had been set aside as American naval bases.

Alleged maps

Mr. Vyshinsky said that maps had been captured which showed with lines and arrows how the attack on the North was to develop.

He spoke for 90 minutes. Taking up Mr. Austin's point made on Saturday that the 38th Parallel did not exist, Mr. Vyshinsky said that if there was not such a line when it means that there are not two countries but simply two sections of the Korean people which happened to dislike each other.

Mr. Vyshinsky said that the joint eight-Power resolution was framed to make possible the occupation of the whole of Korea. It was unacceptable to the Soviet Union and he would vote against it. —United Press and Reuter.

Pope to proclaim Dogma

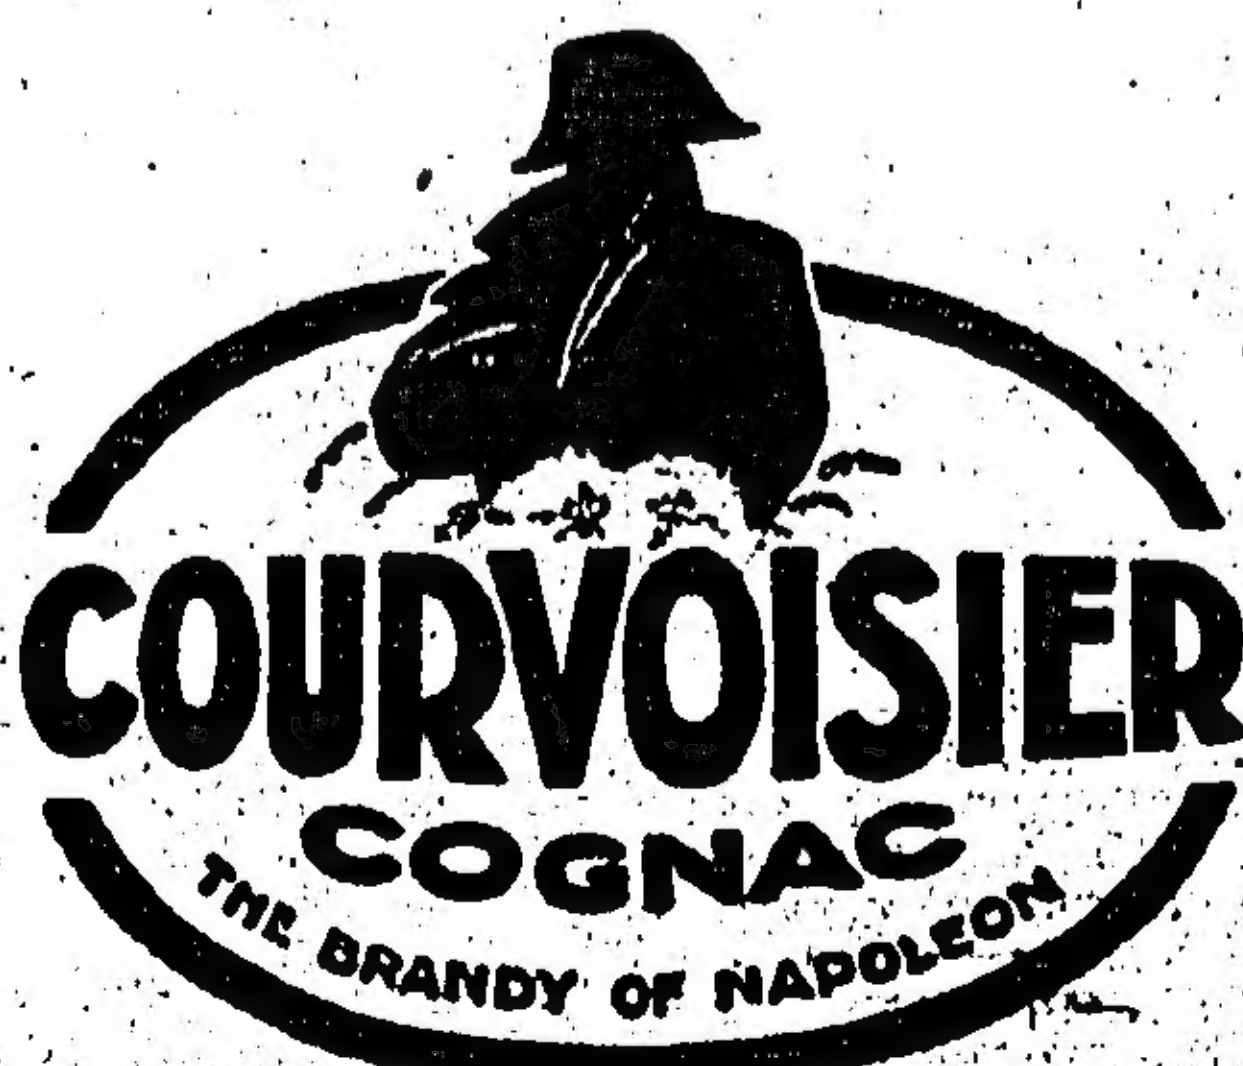

Vatican City, October 2. Pope Pius XII will proclaim the new Dogma of the Assumption next month in an open air ceremony in St. Peter's Square, the Vatican announced tonight.

From a gold and white throng at the top of the wide flight of steps outside the Basilica, he will read out to the massed crowds in the Square the irrevocable Papal Bull decreeing that the bodily Assumption of the Madonna into Heaven on her death is henceforth an essential article of faith in which all the world's 400,000,000 Catholics must believe.

Enthroned on either side of him along the Basilica facade, as he makes the announcement, will sit 400 Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops and Abbots who are expected in Rome from all over the world for the ceremony.

Half a million people, including 200,000 foreign pilgrims, are expected to throng the immense Square for the proclamation—the first new Dogma added to the Church's articles of faith for 80 years. —Reuter.

Glasgow, October 2. About 5,800 Scottish miners today ended their six-day strike for more pay and returned to work. But 1,000 miners remained on strike and five of the 26 pits previously vacated were still idle. —Reuter.

Vienna ready for trouble

Vienna, October 2. Secret security precautions were taken here tonight to prevent demonstrations tomorrow when the Austrian Cabinet meets under Communist threats of an immediate general strike over the Government's wage-price policy.

An "Action Committee" of shop stewards and strike leaders today handed the Austrian Chancellor, Dr. Leopold Figl, an ultimatum threatening a general strike on Wednesday unless the Government agreed to their wage-price demands by midnight tomorrow.

The ultimatum said that the Government must restore the previous price levels or double pay rises, stop further price increases and guarantee no further devaluation of the Austrian schilling.

A conference of about 3,500 Austrian shop stewards and strikers' delegates called by the Communists decided today on the deadline of tomorrow midnight for the Government's answer.

Austria was generally quiet today but in Salzburg there was a demonstration before the Chamber of Labour this afternoon by 1,000 workers including some shop stewards.

Their spokesman expressed distrust of the trade union leaders for not preventing the wage-price pact with the Government, and said that they would join the threatened strike on Wednesday if the Government rejected the shop stewards' ultimatum. —Reuter.

WEST BERLIN'S APPEAL

Berlin, October 2. West Berlin's three Democratic parties tonight appealed to East Berliners to demand free and secret elections in all four sectors of the capital.

The appeal, issued tonight by the Berlin Chairmen of the Social Democratic, Christian Democratic and Free Democratic Parties, said that East Berliners who are for free elections should put their ration card coupon into any West Berlin letter box, addressed to the West Berlin City Administration.

The Communists, who were defeated at the first Berlin post-war elections in 1946, split the administration of the city and did not give the East Berlin population any chance to express their will," the appeal charged. —Reuter.

EGYPT PROTESTS TO BRITAIN

London, October 2. The Egyptian Foreign Minister, Salah El Din Bey, made strong representations to Mr. Ernest Bevin, the Foreign Secretary against the suspension by Britain of high priority arms deliveries to Egypt when they met in New York last Thursday. It was learned in usually well-informed sources here today.

The Egyptian Foreign Minister described the suspension as unjust, since it had been made from political motives. —Reuter.

WEATHER PLAYS TRICKS IN U.S.

New York, October 2. Snow piled 16 inches deep in some areas of the Rocky Mountains today but New York went into its second day of record-breaking October heat.

The New York temperature of 88 degrees Fahrenheit yesterday was the highest ever recorded officially for October 1. —Reuter.

ASIAN REACTIONS TO CROSSING OF 38TH PARALLEL

New York, October 2.

Some Asians fear that a United Nations crossing of Korea's 38th Parallel might bring Russia and Red China into the conflict, according to despatches from the Far East.

They suggest caution in the pursuit of the retiring Korean Communists. Some suggest that United States and British forces stay South of the Parallel and let South Korea finish the job.

Only India's Premier, Jawaharlal Nehru, asked directly that the United Nations forces be halted at the 38th parallel until all other means of settlement have been explored.

Most other Government leaders in the Far East declined comment or said they were still making up their minds.

Pakistan's Premier, Liaquat Ali Khan, told the Associated Press that Pakistan's attitude is still under consideration.

He would announce Pakistan's decision in a day or two.

Malayan Chinese, with a Communist-Western conflict already being fought around their own homes, feared a spread of the Korean war if American and British troops entered North Korea.

Many believe Communist China and perhaps even Russia would give direct help to the Korean Communists.

No excuse

"If the United States and Britain leave the job of subjugating North Korea to the South Koreans," said one influential Chinese in Malaya, "the Chinese Feking not Moscow would have an excuse to invade Korea."

Other Chinese there hoped the Anglo-American forces would await a specific directive from the United Nations before jumping across the line.

Singapore newspapers mostly supported a United Nations fight to the finish to smash the Korean Reds.

"The North Koreans must be defeated completely," said the "Malaya Tribune." "The 38th Parallel must be erased and a strong United Nations Commission sent into the country to supervise the creation of a single government by universal franchise."

Burma's Government considers the Parallel crossing a more delicate matter, one Burmese official said.

One Burmese said he felt a crossing would be a logical outcome of the war in the South but not a move which will safeguard world peace.

Burma, another official explained, is committed to support of the United Nations, but is against any action which is likely to contribute towards war.

"The Government must consider this before joining in any decision to send United Nations troops across the 38th Parallel," he said.

Wellcome news

In Jakarta, Indonesian officials also withheld formal comment but one top-ranking official said privately that General Douglas MacArthur should await a decision of the UN Security Council before ordering his troops Northward.

Another official commented, "It is always hard to stop advancing soldiers. If the Security Council decides not to cross into North Korea they will just be ordered back."

Across the world, Dutch officials in The Hague welcomed news that some South Korean forces were already past the boundary.

A Foreign Office official said: "Koreans only can be obtained only by the assurance of normal democratic conditions on both sides of this Parallel."

West German newspapers said the frontier crossing was necessary to demonstrate that even in Asia violations of peace and freedom do not pay.

The Independent "Offenbach Post" drew the conclusion that "a new war is likely to be avoidable in a few months if the UN forces stop at the 38th Parallel, but if they cross the border they expose themselves to the danger of exploding the entire Far East powder keg."

In Paris a Government spokesman said, "At the moment this is purely a military matter, to be decided in the field."

He added that the United Nations will probably soon take an official position on the crossing. France, he added, will give this decision its firm support. Associated Press.

FIRST JAP SHIP TO VISIT U.S.

Wilmington, Calif., October 2.

The tanker Nichinan Maru, first Japanese ship to arrive here since 1941, called at Los Angeles harbor today before going to Port San Luis to take on a cargo of fuel oil. The ship anchored only long enough to replenish food supplies and bunker oil.

It will take aboard 40,000 barrels of oil at Port San Luis, near San Luis Obispo. The oil is for Yokohama and will be paid for out of the Japanese dollar trading fund.—United Press.

ROOTES SHARES TO BE SOLD

London, October 2.

Sir William and Sir Reginald Rootes, controllers of the Rootes car group—one of the "Big Six" among British motor manufacturers—announced today that they are to sell 1,250,000 of their shares in the company to provide for the heavy death duties which their heirs will have to pay.

They said they were forced to do this to protect the business, the workers and their own families "from the disrupting effect of death duties."

Their situation, after 30 years' hard work, had been to build and pass on their worldwide business intact to their sons, they said. But now they would have to give up that hope.

Both are believed to be millionaires.

The shares will be sold to present shareholders and should yield about £1,300,000. Their group of companies manufacture Hillman, Humber and Sunbeam Talbot cars and employ 20,000 workers.—Reuters.

NOTICE TO CONSIGNEES

m.v. "STONEWALL JACKSON"

Having arrived Hong Kong consignees of cargo are hereby notified that all goods have been landed and placed at their risk and expense into the godowns of the Hongkong and Kowloon Wharf and Godown Co., Ltd., where delivery may be obtained as soon as the goods are landed.

No claims will be admitted after the goods have left the godowns or failure to attend the survey.

All broken, chafed and damaged goods are to be left in the godown where they will be examined in the presence of Messrs. Goddard and Douglas on October 7, 1950, at 10 a.m.

To comply with the General Bonded Warehouse Regulations, consignees must have a Revenue Officer in attendance when examining damaged dutiable goods. All claims against the vessel must be presented to the Underwriter within fourteen days of the ship's arrival, or they will not be recognised.

No fire insurance will be effected.

CRC BEAT SCAA TO WIN MEN'S "A" DIVISION TITLE

Leading U.S. tennis players on decline

New York, October 2. The recent American Lawn Tennis Championships and the result of the Davis Cup have shown that some of the leading players in the United States are on the decline.

Although the women still hold the lead, the men are no longer supreme in international tennis and young talent does not seem likely to fill the gap for some time to come.

Only Tony Trabert of the younger players seems really promising but he had not matured as quickly, or as well, as was hoped last year.

The Junior Champion, Hamilton Richardson, is a great hope for the future but he will not be in the international class for several years.

Tennis critics are surprised at the inconsistency of most top-ranking players this season.

On Budget, Patty has shown his true form in winning both at Wimbledon and Paris, the two big tournaments for which he entered.

Neither Arthur Larsen, the singles champion, nor Herbert Flam, the runner-up, were in the Davis Cup team that was beaten by Australia in August, though many Americans believe that had they been playing the Cup would have remained in the United States.

Indeed, the United States seem to be lacking the great players needed to regain the Cup in the next few years, especially as the Australians have proved that it will be difficult to make it away from their own Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor are still at their best.—Reuters.

BRISTOL CITY SIGN ON NEW OUTSIDE-LEFT

Bristol, October 2. Bristol City, the English Division III, Southern, club, have signed as a professional John Avellano, 20-year-old outside left from Gibraltar.

Avellano, who gained his experience of English football games against Service teams on the Rock.—Reuters.

FACTS TO REMEMBER in choosing your Food Beverage

It is wise to be critical and selective in your choice of a food beverage. Consider carefully whether it satisfies you on those important points: What are its constituents? Are they scientifically determined and combined in what proportions are they used? What is their quality?

In these respects 'Ovaltine' is outstanding. It is an original product—the result of special research by eminent scientists. Its natural ingredients conform to the highest food standards and are proportioned to provide a food of exceptional nutritive value.

'Ovaltine' contains essential food elements, including vitamins, which greatly assist in maintaining health and vitality at a high level. Moreover, it is an important 'Ovaltine' constituent, and their valuable properties are well-known. The famous 'Ovaltine' Farms were established to set the highest standards of quality for the milk, milk and eggs used. The 'Ovaltine' Research Laboratories, of international scientific repute, control every stage of manufacture.

By sheer merit 'Ovaltine' is foremost in world popularity; most widely used in Hospitals and Nursing Homes, and consistently recommended by doctors. For all these reasons drink delicious 'Ovaltine' every day for fitness and energy and every night for sound, restorative sleep.

Strengthened by the inclusion of Choy Wai-chuen, former Chinese Davis Cup player and Cambridge tennis half-blue, the Chinese Recreation Club easily accounted for the South China AA in the play-off for the Men's "A" Division tennis title yesterday and won by 7½ sets to 1½ sets.

The match was played at the Hong Kong Cricket Club and the large crowd of tennis enthusiasts who were present witnessed tennis of a very high standard.

The SCAA partnership of K. H. Ip and P. Poon did not live up to expectations and went down in defeat to Tsui Wai-pui and W. C. Choy and also to V. T. Wang and Y. P. Tsui.

V. T. Wang played immaculate tennis yesterday and the Tsui team's win was, in no small measure, due to his play.

The Chinese Recreation Club put the issue beyond doubt after the second round had been completed, winning five of the six sets and drawing the other.

The last round was merely a formality.

In the first round Ip and Poon of SCAA were matched against W. P. Tsui and W. C. Choy.

Well-placed lobs

Games went with the service until the seventh game when, by well-placed lobs and net interceptions, Tsui and Choy broke through Poon's service to lead five games to four.

Choy won his service after deuce had been called after Ip made two mistakes and led five-three.

Ip won his service, but Tsui ended the set on his service. On Court 2, V. T. Wang and Y. P. Tsui of CRC had a runaway victory over Edwin Tsai and Sze-to Black, winning six games to love.

Wang was in grand form with his service, forehand drives and placements.

Tsai and Sze-to Black did not seem to understand each other too well and were continually allowing the ball to pass them down the centre of the court.

Lobbing tactics

Sze-to Black was extremely weak throughout the whole match on his backhand and consistently resorted to lobbing tactics which failed to pay dividends.

G. Lum and L. Sia of SCAA, after being down four games to love.

Results

The following are the results: SCAA 12—CRC 7½. K. H. Ip and P. Poon (SCAA) lost to W. P. Tsui and W. C. Choy 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Y. P. Tsui 4-6, beat K. C. Dao and Dr. G. Choa 7-5.

E. Tsai and Sze-to Black (SCAA) lost to Tsui and Choy 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Wang and Tsui 4-6, lost to Dao and Dr. Choa 5-7.

G. Lum and L. Sia (SCAA) lost to Tsui and Choy 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Wang and Tsui 4-6, drew with Dao and Dr. Choa 6-6.

LRC Tennis results

Only four matches were played at the Ladies Recreation Club yesterday and the following are the results:

Club Men's Singles (semi-final) Dr. G. Smart beat D. R. Holmes 6-1, 6-3.

Club Mixed Doubles (semi-final) W. J. D. Cooper and Mrs. Andrews beat H. J. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Handicap Men's Singles (semi-final) C. G. Morrison beat R. Thorp 6-0, 6-1.

HNMS Evertsen Soccer XI

SOCCER:

HNMS Evertsen beat Club 2-1

In a fast and interesting friendly soccer match at Happy Valley yesterday, a team from the destroyer, HNMS Evertsen beat Club XI by two goals to one.

On the run of the play, Club should have won, but they were badly let down by a deplorably weak forward line which wasted innumerable scoring chances.

The Dutch sailors played well and displayed better understanding than their opponents. They adopted open methods of play, but were inclined to pass with the ball too quickly.

As a result, many passes often went astray.

H. de Jong, who played in goal for the sailors gave a splendid performance, particularly in the second half, when he saved several rasping shots from the Fowler brothers.

The sailors took the lead with a neat movement ended with Tongeren, who played an outstanding game, netting with a fast rising shot from just outside the penalty area.

Obtain equaliser

Shortly before the interval, Club obtained the equaliser when they were awarded a penalty. Farrow scoring with a neat shot to the left hand corner of the net.

In the second half, Club were seen to better advantage and did most of the attacking.

Their forwards, however, frittered away many scoring chances.

Following a breakaway in the 25th minute of this period, the sailors obtained the winning goal when one of the Club defenders fouled one of the opposing forwards in the penalty area.

Tongeren, who was entrusted with the spot kick, made no mistake.

Club attacked strongly after this reverse and should have obtained the equaliser and taken the lead, but the final whistle came without any further scoring by either side.

Club: Brown, McDonald, Strange, Fullbrook, Farrow, Adams, E. Fowler, McDonald, E. Fowler, Cruickshank and Gray.

HNMS Evertsen: H. de Jong, Peepers, Komen, Viugr, Padmos, Mees, Tongeren, Ketting, Poperkamp, Pulles and Scholten.

This soccer music might have been a good deal sweeter

By HAROLD MAYES

Last week Sante Fe announced that they intended to sue Neil Franklin for breach of contract and for the bond he gave as protection against his non-return. That was not news to the Stoke man.

Two weeks ago I sat in on a rather painful interview between him and the former president of the Bogota club, Luis Robledo, who made quite clear to Franklin the legal implications if he failed to go back to South America.

Senior Robledo tried extremely hard to persuade him to return, if only for a short spell—and not even to play football if he didn't wish to do so—so that the Colombian people would not lose faith in Britain.

Neil had, after all, written to him to say that he did not want to leave his wife "until she has her child and is on her feet again," but his application for reinstatement has made it clear that he does not want to go.

No one except Franklin can really know just how he feels, but as the time for facing the music draws nearer, I wonder what his thoughts are concerning the English newspaper whose representative advanced him the money to pay for the fateful passage from New York to London.

Without that advance the band would still have been playing, but the music might have been a good deal sweeter.

Two weeks ago I told you of the hot campaign against Tommy Price, the good-natured Wembley speedway rider, whose world title went down the pan when he fell from his machine on his own track.

Flood of letters

Since that time Tommy has had a flood of letters from well-wishers all over the country. But in his Sudbury home, after the shouting had died as they acclaimed Freddie Williams, the new title-holder, Tommy showed me the abusive ones which he's still getting.

I also brought away with me a vicious-looking piece of metal which was thrown at him as he left a Southern track a few days ago.

It appears to be a piece of a broken crash barrier, is about a foot long and weighs more than a pound and three-quarters. Fortunately it missed Tommy and the only damage it did was to put a large dent in the bodywork of his car.

"Perhaps they'll leave me alone now—that I've lost the title," Tommy says. But he's taking no chances. When next he rides at the track where the incident—not an isolated one—happened he intends asking for police protection.

Sifting evidence

Meanwhile the Speedway Control Board are collecting and sifting evidence which will be considered at an early date. I gather they have already received a protest from the riders belonging to the track at which the incident occurred against the result of the match which preceded it being allowed to stand.

How strong is the protest? Well, one of the riders who signed it, since said: "I don't think Tommy did anything that I wouldn't have done. But I'm one of the team so I had to sign it."

Still action is called for, however, there will be at least one person in danger of losing his Control Board license. And I don't mean Tommy Price.

Denmark wins five titles in Maccabiah Games

Tel Aviv, October 2. Denmark won five titles in the Maccabiah Games (the World Jewish Sports Festival) Greco-Roman wrestling championships here.

Israel won two titles and the Argentine one.

Kalle Lelzin, of Denmark, won the Featherweight title while his brother, Hermann Lelzin, won the Bantamweight title.

Results

The results of the finals were: Flyweight: Moses Relund, of Denmark, beat R. Herz, of Israel, on points.

Bantamweight: Hermann Lelzin, of Denmark, beat L. Goldshani, of Israel, in 1.32 minutes.

Lightweight: Simon Kjeland, of Denmark, beat B. Nahumson, of Israel, in 13.02 minutes.

Welterweight: M. Arzi, of Israel, beat Maurice Sternberg, of Belgium, in 1.34 minutes.

Middleweight: M. Genuit, of Argentina, beat M. Bernatt, of Israel, in 8.12 minutes.

Light-heavyweight: M. Morgenstern, of Israel, beat Abraham Rosenfeld, of Belgium, on points.

Heavyweight: W. Peikin, of Denmark, beat Fred Oberlander, of Canada, on points.

Featherweight: Kalle Lelzin, of Denmark.—Reuters.

The Rowing and Dinghy Summer Series have now closed, the former being won by Corbett and the latter by Furrer.

Some keen racing was witnessed last week with excellent fresh easterly winds which should now continue throughout the coming season.

An impromptu dinghy race took place on the public holiday (and during the week-end) the two eliminating heats for the Open Dinghy event in the Regatta and the first heat of the Stars were sailed off.

Dragons and Cruisers were out in large numbers on all three days.

In the first Dinghy heat on Saturday, all boats made a good start and kept well together until the first mark.

After this, however, Furrer pulled out into the lead and kept well ahead to win easily from Patterson, who was second.

The second heat on Sunday was won by Furrer, closely followed by Spencer-Cooper.

Reconditioned boats

Van Kretschmar won the first Star heat Sunday, sailing one of the reconditioned boats.

These reconditioned Stars appear to be sailing fairly evenly now and all six will be available for the Regatta.

Helmsmen are advised, however, to check over their boats sometime during this week before sailing next week-end.

It is hoped to lay two or three moorings off the Club for Cruisers to make fast to while their owners are temporarily ashore.

In the meantime Cruiser owners are requested not to use the present moorings which have comparatively light sinkers.

The Opening Regatta takes place next Sunday, Sunday and Monday, with a cruise to Junk Bay for all boats on Sunday.

Some Dinghies are still available for this cruise and should be booked as soon as possible.

Races in the Regatta will start punctually at the advertised time and will not be delayed under any circumstances.

The following helmsmen qualified last week-end for the Finals in the Regatta:

Open Dinghies

Hunt, Miss Forteous, Mirams, Worley, Furrer, Spencer-Cooper, Bourne, Laufer, Youriff, Yates and Chute.

Stars

Van Kretschmar and Hancock.

Race results

Dinghies—Tuesday, September 26. 1st Furrer (7) 1 hour 15 minutes 40 seconds; 2nd Van Kretschmar (23) 1 hour 18 minutes 30 seconds; 3rd Hodel (3) 1 hour 25 minutes 1 second.

DINGHIES FIRST HEAT. Saturday, September 30. 1st Furrer (11) 1 hour 27 minutes 22 seconds; 2nd Patterson (2) 1 hour 32 minutes 50 seconds; 3rd Hodel (4) 1 hour 33 minutes 40 seconds.

STARS, FIRST HEAT. Sunday, October 1. 1st Van Kretschmar (5) 1 hour 6 minutes 20 seconds; 2nd Hancock (2) 1 hour 7 minutes 19 seconds; 3rd MacKay (3) 1 hour 8 minutes 50 seconds.

CRICKET CLUB OF INDIA LEADING C'WEALTH XI

Bombay, October 2. The Cricket Club of India were leading the Commonwealth team by 10 runs with two first innings wickets in hand at the close of play in their match here today.

The Cricket Club of India, who were leading by 225 runs for eight wickets, led the Commonwealth side's 214 runs in the first innings.

Jim Laker, the Surrey off-spinner, took three wickets for 88 runs in the first innings.
